October 8 of the Apollo V second stage rocket called the 8-II-10 after a full duration, six minutes and seven seconds, captive firing was conducted at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility. This flight certified rocket will be shipped to the Kennedy Space Center and its next firing will carry men to the moon. The rocket produces over one million pounds of thrust. If you can envision the pulling power of twenty one million horses then you'll have a comprehension of the strength this 81 1/2 feet long, 35 feet diameter rocket that projected skyward from the tallest structure in the State of Mississippi for the test stand's height is 407 feet. The energy exerted would measure fifteen tons of power per second with each engine consuming 47,000 gallons of fuel per minute.

"It is interesting to note," commented Terry Malone, NASA test center public relations model

An Open Letter To All Mississippians

Dear Mississippians:
As you are probably aware, the Mississippi Legislature recently approved and the Governor has signed a bill appropriating $300,000 in operating funds for the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television.

While we were disappointed that the appropriation was insufficient to allow us to offer a full program service which would include in-school programming, credit and training courses, we are pleased that our agency will be given an opportunity to demonstrate to the citizens of Mississippi how the medium of television can be used for educational purposes.

We want to take this opportunity to thank the thousands of Mississippians -- parents, teachers, educators, businessmen, students, club members, legislators, representatives of the media, and lay citizens -- who worked so hard and long in behalf of educational television. We greatly appreciate your efforts and interest in the State's ETV program and will attempt to live up to your trust and vision by working toward a goal of a better informed, educated, and more prosperous Mississippi.

William R. Smith, Jr., Executive Director and Staff of the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

Although due to conditions beyond our control we are residing outside of Hancock County, I hope it is only temporarily and that in the not too distant future we shall again enjoy the friendliness, hospitality and tranquility of the Mississippi countryside.

I will continue my subscription to the Echo, for how other can we keep abreast of the coast news and especially find that home we hope to see advertised in the Echo.

Congratulations on the prompt comeback of the Sea Coast Echo and may it enjoy all the prosperity it can stand in the future. Good Luck and God Bless You.

To whomever it may concern, the city officials, the county officials or our governor, John Bell Williams.

What are you trying to shove down peoples' throats now? A man trying to earn an honest day's work, instead of going to the welfare for help, by putting on peoples' roofs.

Then there is a $25.00 contractor license to buy, also post a cash $1,000 bond. Who is supposed to be helping whom to try to get back on their feet after such a disastrous ordeal?

Will someone please give me an answer?

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

In your issue of Oct. 2nd, a letter by Mr. Brown of Long Beach, prompts me to wonder how he can be so sure that I and many "others, do not understand the nature of God," any more than he can be so certain, it was not the wrath or vengeance of God, who sent us "Camille."

Who of us human kind can really fathom the mind of God in any way? I too lost quite a lot in material needs, in this recent disaster, but I still thank God, that with it all, I was able to help others. I agree with Mr. Brown, when he claims "God loves us in spite of our sins," Mary Magdalene was the example, performed by the Son of God, yet I do believe God chastises too for wrong doing; remember the man in the Temple; Jesus Christ sent His disapproval for their desecration and disrespect.

I have not forgotten my Bible History classes and now I must close with a most sincere admission to Mr. Brown that I too have not lost faith in God.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

I would like to caution cat owners of Hancock County against giving or selling cats and kittens indiscriminately to anyone they do not know.

It has been reported from the Ocean Springs and Blount areas, that a man has been trying to buy cats and kittens for one dollar, to be used for inhumane purposes. This man was recently seen in the Bay area.

Until this community is able to have a Humane Animal Shelter, let us not tolerate cruelty to animals in any form. Remember, Almighty God created animals before he created man. He had a purpose.

Respectfully,

Army Captain Praises Civil Defense Director

Captain William K. Moers wrote the following letter to Governor John Bell Williams, praising the efficiency of Bay St. Louis Civil Defense Director, Lucien W. Kidd, following hurricane Camille:

1. The people of Hancock County, Mississippi should possess a profound sense of gratitude for the exemplary performance of Lucien W. Kidd, their Civil Defense Director, during the emergency situation caused by hurricane "Camille."

2. I was sent to assist the people of Hancock County, Mississippi by running a Food Service Team at Bay Saint Louis. The Civil Defense Operation was centered at the Bay Saint Louis High School as was my Food Service Operation. It was here that I had the privilege to observe the very professional, conscientious, and completely devoted Lucien W. Kidd. I could not have done half of what I did if I had not had the assistance of Lucien W. Kidd.

3. Lucien W. Kidd quickly and readily assumed responsibility of matters whether they be large or small and regardless of any personal hardships. Even with the countless number of obvious issues that required his attention, he was able to perceive what could develop into a problem area, analyze, assign priorities, coordinate with the respective units, and assign duties with the equipment and facilities he could make available. His attention-to-detail was vividly characterized by his numerous tours of the area. At times I was able to assist Mr. Kidd with a jeep because the areas were inaccessible by his automobile.

4. Lucien W. Kidd, successfully scheduled, briefed, coordinated, supervised, engineered, and planned as a daily routine. The experience that he gained in this emergency will be an invaluable asset to the State of Mississippi as well as Hancock County.

5. Lucien W. Kidd was a genuine inspiration to all that came in contact with him. His performance earned him a position well above his contemporaries and earned respect from his subordinates.

Captain Moers is with the First Aviation Company from Fort Rucker, Alabama.

Mrs. Lula Williams

Mrs. Lula Hart Williams, 91, mother of Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis, died on Saturday, October 4, in the home of her daughters Mrs. Thomas H. Thompson and Mrs. Myrtle Payne in Camden, Arkansas.

A direct descendant of John Hart, signer of the Declaration of Independence, Mrs. Williams was born in Hart Town in 1878 and moved to Bay St. Louis in early childhood. She attended St. Joseph's Academy. Her father, Christopher C. Hart, an early Master of the Bay St. Louis Masonic Lodge was a member of the first public school board in Bay St. Louis.

Married in 1900 to the late Joe E. Williams, owner of the Williams Yellow Pine Lumber Company in Poplarville, Mrs. Williams lived in Poplarville for many years until advancing age made a change necessary. Until two years ago when her health failed Mrs. Williams was a frequent visitor in the home of Colonel and Mrs. Pilet. During her visits to Yasmine she compiled information, photographs, and memorabilia relating to Mississippi at the turn of the century. Some of her material has appeared in Know Your State, edited by Ray M. Thompson.

Funeral services were conducted from the funeral chapel with interment in the Old Poplarville Cemetery on College Heights at 3:30 Monday afternoon.

Beside her three daughters Mrs. Williams is survived by 5 grand children and 22 great-grand children.

Mrs. Hattie Roth

Mrs. Hattie Viola Fayard Roth, 78, a native of Bay St. Louis and a resident of New Orleans for 45 years, died at 3:15 p.m., Monday, October 6.

Wife of the late Edward Eugene Roth, she was the mother of Mrs. H. Eugene Roth, Mrs. Lorraine Gilbert, Mrs. Elodie Pigeon and Edward J. Roth; sister of Mrs. Alene Court; Achille Fayard, the late Alfred and Lovance Fayard and John and Frank Kachler. She was the daughter of the late Achille Fayard and Lena Asher Johnson.

Food Assistance Program Resumes

Hancock County has resumed regular certification of eligible needy persons to receive food assistance under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's commodity distribution program.

State food assistance officials note that the emergency created by hurricane Camille has now ended. For that reason, certification of families and distribution of USDA foods to them by the American Red Cross—an emergency arrangement—ment—ended October 1.

County welfare agent Mrs. Frances E. Frankiewicz emphasized, however, that Hancock County residents still in need of special food aid because of hardship may be certified by applying directly to the food distribution center at Bay St. Louis.

Because a large number of persons are still certified to receive special food aid, and to accommodate others who may still be eligible under hardship provisions, Mrs. Frankiewicz said, the Hancock County food distribution center will remain open throughout the month of October.

Those wishing to apply for food aid may do so Mon. thru Fri.

At the October 7, meeting attended by 35 members it was recommended that before making application for aid that a survey and plans should be submitted and that the plan should go through the town officials.

PCYC Board Cancels Frostbite Regatta

"Enthusiasm about rebuilding permeates the atmosphere of Pass Christian," said Charles Pearson, Jr., commodore of the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Although the club house of the Pass Christian Yacht Club was damaged by hurricane Camille, the Board of Governors has continued to hold regular meetings and expects to have special meetings as required.

In summing up the situation Commodore Pearson said: "The board has decided that both the Frostbite Regatta and the Commodore's Ball must be cancelled for this year because we will not have the facilities to conduct these events in a manner befitting their importance."

Commodore Pearson also reported that the "Big Wind" also took the boat shed and the Hum-Dinger. The pier is gone except for the pilings and the street from Highway 90 to the Club washed away, leaving the property of the Yacht Club full of deep holes. The east harbor wall is also cracked in many places, the west breakwater of the harbor is wrecked and the launching ramp buried deep in shells. The boat hoist is also gone.

TROPHIES SAVED

Most of the club furniture and all of the trophies were removed and are now stored in a safe place, commented the commodore who added, "Thanks to the House Committee, the Race Committee, the Bar Committee, Frank Lombardo, Joby Dennis, a few other individuals and our incomparable Juniors, a great deal of the Club property was saved. On the Saturday before the hurricane, the Captain Wood and the Fish boats were taken to a safe place on the bayou where they are still moored, afloat and undamaged. The two Flying Scots and the trailer were moved to high ground. One Scot and trailer were crushed by a falling tree, however, the insurance company has settled for the full purchase price."

CORPS OF ENGINEERS LETS CONTRACT

Through the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers a contract let on October 1 will start rehabilitation of the Pass Christian harbor, rebuild the washed out road and fill in the peninsula. When this work is finished members of the Pass Christian Yacht Club feel they will be in an excellent position to build a more substantial clubhouse than ever before. It was noted that the south and east porches with the protective wall, which were built after Betty, withstood Camille and are intact with the exception of some undermining and breaking up of a portion of the slab adjacent to the kitchen. "We are negotiating with the insurance adjusters for a settlement covering the clubhouse and indications so far appear favorable," concluded Mr. Pearson.

Bay High Squeaks By Harrison 7-6

In their closest game so far this season the Bay High Tigers squeaked by Harrison Central Red Rebels 7-6. The game a Gulf Coast Conference game was played at Bay High Saturday afternoon.

An extra point placement by Roger Mayo provided the narrow win margin. Mayo's placement came with time running out in the second quarter and followed a 32-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Gene Estapa to Mike Lymuel.

The Estapa-to-Lymuel pass was completed for a touchdown with only two seconds showing on the scoreboard clock prior to halftime.

Harrison Central scored its touchdown midway in the final period when tackle Sheron Stevens picked up a Bay High fumble at the Tiger 15 and ran it in for a score.

The Red Rebels tried to run for a two-point conversion but the try was stopped. Harrison Central threatened in the third quarter, moving to the Tiger four where it was first down and goal to go for a touchdown. However, Bay High's defense held and took over on downs at the three.

4-H CLUB WEEK

The week of October 5 to October 11, is National 4-H Club Week but there are no programs or activities for the week in Hancock County. Since Camille the clubs have not been meeting due to some members not having any homes and various other reasons due to the disaster. However the clubs are being reorganized and will function again.

Timber Buyers Holding Prices To Pre-Storm Prices

According to a recent survey by the State Forester Wendell, most sawmills and buyers are holding prices for the timber before the tree-splitting storm.

The survey revealed that prices at the various mills ranged from $30 per thousand to $70 per thousand, and mill yard prices ranged from $17 to $19 per unit. The decrease in prices at the mills or yards, when it can be attributed to the cost for stockpiling, requires extra storage, preservation systems, increased investment, and, of course, some storage loss. Most wood-using companies are stockpiling timber to provide a market for much of the damaged timber before it deteriorates in the woods.

The State Forester's survey also showed that most pulpwood dealers are unable to move wood to the mills as fast as they can buy it.

One of the limiting factors is the scarcity of railroad cars. Transportation is a problem that has become acute. The Governor's Salvage Council and the Railroad Association are working together to try to alleviate the problem. Some progress is being made, but pulpwood is still being bottlenecked at some woodyards. In some instances, wood producers are being stopped from hauling. Even though progress is slow in this area, Lack said that he believes it will be improved soon.

The State Forestry chief also pointed out that the labor supply is not sufficient in some areas to handle the timber which needs to be moved. "People who can handle it should do their own butting and bunching of logs and pulpwood at roadside loading places where buyers can pick it up," said Lack. "To be sure of a sale, landowners should deal with the buyer before they cut and put the timber products on the road," he added. Many small landowners can salvage timber that would otherwise be lost.

State Forester Lack concluded that much progress is being made in salvaging the storm-damaged timber, but that completion of the operation is still many months away. "Nearly everyone - companies and individuals - are cooperating to the fullest and the best possible job is being done under the circumstances," he said.

OLG PARISH MEMBERS

Rev. Gregory J. Johnson, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, is asking members of the Parish, when entering Hancock General Hospital, to request the hospital registrar to put O.L.G. after their names. This, Father Johnson added, will enable priests of the parish to better serve the sick.

1,252 Research Projects Recorded In Mississippi

Over $13.6 million was spent on 1,252 research projects in the State during fiscal year 1968, a report by the Mississippi Research and Development Center showed.

The report, "A Directory of Research in Progress in Mississippi During Fiscal Year 1968," is compiled annually by the R & D Center in compliance with State law.

The Directory reports 292 projects at Mississippi State University, while the University of Mississippi had 164, the University of Mississippi Medical Center had 123, and the University of Southern Mississippi 74. The Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station reported 413 projects at its main station and nine branches.

There were 76 other organizations reporting various research projects during the year.

Abstracts were not compiled from the Army's Waterways Experiment Station at Vicksburg and NASA's Mississippi Test Facility near Bay St. Louis because these agencies compile reports of their own activities. Had these activities been added to the State list, the dollar total for research projects would have jumped to over $76 million.

Not all of the NASA and Army project expenditures were made in the State, however, and should not be considered an aggregate contribution to the State's income or economy.

Among the five major fields listed in the Directory, the largest expenditure was reported in Life Sciences with $8.2 million for 761 projects. Next was Engineering with $1.4 million for 121 projects; Social Sciences with $1.1 million for 140 projects; Physical Sciences with $958,661 for 92 projects; and $945,462 for 138 projects in other fields.

In all fields of science, Mississippi State University expended $2.6 million; the University of Mississippi Medical Center $2.3 million; Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station $1.7 million; Gulf Coast Research Laboratory $1.4 million; Southern Forest Experiment Station $1.2 million; and the University of Mississippi $1 million.

Funds appropriated by the Mississippi Legislature covered $618,274 for 70 projects. A total of 205 sponsors was listed for all projects.

Mrs. Nages C. Pilet who was, prior to Camille, a consultant for the House Beautiful magazine reporting her findings on such items as silver, linens, china, crystal and house furnishings has now turned her attention to methods of restoring and re-claiming storm damaged fabrics.

Highly recommended for the removal of rust stains is the commercial product WHISK. A four ounce plastic container of this preparation will restore a great many items such as rust-stained clothing, napkins, lace, etc.

Mrs. Pilet says it works on all colorfast fabrics. Just apply a few drops to the stain and then place with cold water.

It is important to rinse the white out before ironing the garment.

It can also be used for rust spots on sinks.

Another "find" reported by Mrs. Pilet is the use of MR. CLEAN. When diluted with lukewarm water Mr. Clean will remove mud from furniture, upholstering fabrics, most shoes and purses. Sponge article later with clear water. Results are most satisfactory.

Mud-packed cut glass can be beautifully cleaned without damage to the design by first soaking the object, preferably over night, in water to which household ammonia has been added. When the mud has softened use a relatively soft brush, a regular bottle brush will do, to scrub away the residue.

HOUSEHOLD AMMONIA IN YOUR LAUNDRY

Household ammonia is a mild solution of water and pure ammonia, which is an alkaline gas composed of nitrogen and hydrogen. The solution may vary in concentration from 5 percent to 10 percent and may be either clear or cloudy. While cloudy ammonia contains a small amount of soap or detergent and tends to be sudsy, the type may be used as a laundry additive.

Since ammonia "cuts" grease and has a slight bleaching action when added to the wash load, it helps loosen deeply embedded stains and oily soil. Applied directly, it is also frequently recommended in the treatment of stains such as perspiration, blood and mercuriochrome. Being extremely alkaline, it should be thoroughly rinsed away.

In the interest of household safety, you should always follow one rule when using ammonia. Never mix it directly with chlorine bleach. This mixture results in irritating fumes. Used as recommended, however, ammonia is an excellent laundry aid.

Be sure to keep ammonia out of the hands of children.

USE SAFE CLEANING SOLVENTS

While on the subject of cleaning, we must remember that home remedies for removing spots and stains with solvents can prove to be a very costly affair.

Carbon tetrachloride, which has masqueraded as a friend for doing home cleaning jobs, can be disastrous if it is inhaled or spilled on the skin. The early signs of damage are headache and dizziness. If exposure is concentrated, lung congestion and liver and kidney damage can be fatal.

The Food and Drug Administration has officially acknowledged that safer cleaning agents work just as well as carbon tetrachloride and recently began the necessary steps to stop its interstate shipment for sale to retail customers.

Be sure all home remedies for cleaning are safe. Why take any unnecessary risks by using a solvent that has been proved risky?

ed area to reduce fire hazard. Protect surrounding areas completely from spattered paint. Hold nozzle of spray gun 6 to 8 inches away from surface to be painted. Move arm and gun as a right unit parallel to the surface and at uniform speed.

TASTY PLANNED OVERS

Does the cost of food in your family budget concern you? Cut your food cost by turning leftovers into planned overs rather than throwing away good food. Use your own cooking skill and imagination to make them tasty.

Some leftovers make good second meals simply with reheating. Others are better when prepared in a new way—with seasonings, sauces or crisp toppings.

Use leftover egg yolks in such planned-overs as baked custard, cakes, cookies, homemade noodles and scrambled eggs.

Try making leftover egg whites into a meringue or mixing them into a cake or soufflé. Cooked potatoes can be turned into meat-pile topping, salads, fried or creamed pota-

Seabees Replaced By Engineers In Pass Christian

As of Friday last, Seabees from the Gulfport base were replaced by the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers who will continue the task of clearing debris and fallen trees in Pass Christian. While most of the work has been that of clearing streets, roads and public property, there has been considerable clearing done on private property where public health and safety was involved. In these cases property owners were required to sign a release. Property owners report favorably of the work done by the SEABEE group and commend them on the precautions taken to protect existing property.

The Corps of Engineers with headquarters located in the temporary City Hall located on the second floor of the Hancock Bank Building are in the process of letting a number of sizeable contracts still within the phase of clearing and clearing. Early on the agenda will be the repairs needed on the water front at Pass Christian Harbor.
